Autumn Equinox

by Gabe Heyrman

Everyone has a favorite season, but one season is probably the best. Fall has one of the most noticeable changes between seasons, being the autumn equinox. The autumn equinox is when the time between nighttime and daytime is nearly equal. Marshal said, "It makes me feel like the earth is stealing my sleep and giving it back later." But the autumn equinox does not just change seasons and start the shift from more to fewer daylight hours; it also causes animals to either start their hibernation process or birds to begin their migration south. Oddly enough, it also causes the sun to rise exactly in the east and set exactly in the west. William Norton stated after learning about the autumn equinox, "It only gets darker from here." It really does let us all push to get through this school year.

Do you have a favorite season? Please write it on your pizza slip.

"Kind Words"

It's a common phrase spoken from teachers to students in the last couple weeks. Please encourage your students to use kind words with each other (and everyone else). Even unkind words in jokes can cause harm. "Be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, as God in Christ forgave you (Eph 4:32)."

A Memorial for a Legend

by Will Norton

On September 21, 2025, there was a memorial for a legend, Charles James Kirk. Charlie Kirk was a famous conservative activist and a devout Christian. At Charlie Kirk's memorial, Erika Kirk said "I forgive him because it was what Christ did and is what Charlie would do." Erika Kirk forgave the man that killed her husband! J.D. Vance said, "The evil murderer who took Charlie from us expected us to have a funeral today, and instead, my friends, we have had a revival in celebration of Charlie Kirk, and of his Lord Jesus Christ." Charlie Kirk was a great man, and we will see him in Paradise!

The Games of Contradictions

by Isaac Beaverson

The score is 0-3. The Bobcats are three goals short of tying the game and there are fifteen minutes on the clock. Those fifteen minutes are filled with hard work which results in three Bobcat goals that lead to the Bobcat winning in the shootout. This nail-biter of a win against the Hannahville team could not be more contrary to the next game where the two teams meet again, but this time at the Bobcats home field. The Bobcats lead 1-0 in the first half. And in the last half of the game the Bobcats net six more to take a 7-0 win. What caused the upset? The right-midfielder William states, "We didn't like that we almost lost the first time, so we made sure that the fire was there for the second game." While the field size difference also may play a role in the upset, only opinion can satisfy our questions.

Bouncing Back

by Dylan Swift

The Bobcat volleyball team showed better teamwork in this week's game than in the past. One player, Elisabeth Beaverson, commented, "We showed more communication and moved our feet a little more." Unfortunately, the Bobcats were unable to come out on top of Maplewood. Audrey Maloney said, "Our reaction time and serves improved from the last game." With over half the season done, the Ladycats look to finish the season strong and make a strong run in the tournament.

The Day of Punctuation

by Steve Norton

National Punctuation Day is not a very well-known holiday, but it is an interesting one. This holiday is meant to celebrate punctuation and the people that use, teach, and notice them. Most people have absolutely no clue what Punctuation Day is or that it existed. Will says, "I didn't know that punctuation day existed. I thought it was the day we had to use punctuation the most." He was closer than most people, but Dylan says, "I didn't know what it was but I think it is used as punctuation awareness day, it is important because it's important for communication."

DAD: Abracadabra—you're a sandwich!
